Killed by Train at Louisville.

A report received last night from Louisville stated that Tom Cockrell, the real originator of the famous Hargis-Cockrell-Marcum-Cox feud, was run over last night in Louisville and died later of his injuries.

A description was asked for by a Lopisville paper and was furnished by Hon. W. F. Klair and Jailer W. J. Ahern. This description tallied exactly with that of the dead man and this, coupled with other data, convinced the Louisville that it was really Tom Cockrell who was thrown off the train at Thirty-first street and Cleveland avenue last night.

The man who was killed had arrived in Louisville from Dakota yesterday morning and had gone to the home of Mr. Rawlins, whom he knew, at 3117 Portland avenue. Coming down town last night with one of the Rawlins boys they both got drunk.

Returning about 9 o'clock they jumped a freight train at the corner of Cleveland avenue and Thirty-first street. In attempting to get off the train Cockrell was thrown under the train and crushed to death. Rawlins, in attempting to save him, had his leg broken.

Cockrell was taken to St. Mary and Elizabeth Hospital and died about a quarter of 12 o'clock.

Tom Cockrell started the Hargis-Cockrell feud in 1904 when he shot Ben Hargis in a quarrel over a card game in a blind tiger near Jackson. Cockrell was later acquitted and this caused ill-feeling between the two families.

The following June Jim Cockrell was shot from the window of the Jackson court house and mortally wounded. He was brought to Lexington where he died in a short time. This killing was followed in a short time by the murder of Dr. B. D. Cox and Attorney J. B. Marcum.

Curt Jett was tried and received a life sentence each for the murder of Marcum and James Cockrell. Ed Caliahan and James Hargis were tried as accessories, but were acquitted.

Tom Cockrell has not been in Lexington for over a year and when last heard from was running a billiard hall in Beattyville. The description of the dead man follows:

About 5 feet 10 inches tall; spare and slender figure; weighs about 145 pounds; has red hair, gray or blue eyes, and looks to be about 30 years old.

This description tallies exactly with the description given by Mr. Klair and Mr. Ahern of Cockrell, and it is thought beyond a doubt that the dead man is Cockrell.

Cockrell is known to be a drinking man and it was during one of these sprees that he killed Ben Hargis. At one time he ran a saloon on the corner of Deweese and Carrol streets here in Lexington.—Lexington Herald, 27th.

Mrs. Ada L. Croom, the widely known proprietor of the Croom Hotel, Vaughn, Miss., says: "For several months I suffered with a severe cough, and consumption seemed to have its grip on me, when a friend recommended Dr. King's New Discovery. I began taking it, and three bottles affected a complete cure." The fame of this life saving cough and cold remedy, and lung and throat healer is world wide. Sold at all dealers. 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free.

Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Dye and daughter returned Sunday from a week's visit with their daughter, Mrs. G. C. Mann, at Dan. They also spent part of the time at Wellington and other nearby towns.

A Word to Democrats.

We wish to call the attention of our Democrat friends in Kentucky to what we believe to be the grave danger that Kentucky's electoral vote may be lost to Mr. Bryan through overconfidence and lack of organization.

We have no doubt a majority, a large majority, of the white voters of Kentucky will vote for the Democratic electors, nor have we the slightest doubt that a fair proportion of the negroes of the State will vote for those electors. On a full, fair, honest vote Kentucky will go Democratic this year by a decisive morjority. If there is proper organization, if the full vote is gotten out, if the people are made to understand the necessity for every Democrat going to the polls, the State is as safe for Bryan as is Mississippi or Louisiana. But it is well for us to look the facts in the face, and in our opinion there is danger unless there is thorough organization, of the State going Republican.

For the first time the State Administration and every city of the first or second class, except in Fayette county, is Republican. The Republicans have a majority of the State Board of Election Commissioners in every county where there is a city of the first or second class, except in Fayette county. They have control of the police and firemen in Louisville, Paducah, Covington and Newport. Republicans fill every Federal office in Kentucky. Thep ostmasters, assistant postmasters, mail carriers, Collectors of Internal Revenue, storekeepers, gaugers, United States marshals, deputy marshals, disrict attorneys and Federal judges are all Republicans and willing to give their best services, contribute of their money and some to use their offices to the very limit to carry Kentucky for Judge Taft.

The Democrats have no source from which they can secure campaign funds except the voluntary contributions of private citizens. The Republicans have the revenues of the Federal office-holder, of the State Administrtion and of the city administrations of Louisville and all the cities of the class but Lexington upon which to levy for their funds, and have a compact, well disciplined organization, held together by the cohesive power of "pie," to see to the collection and expenditure of these funds.

It is not well for us to deceive ourselves with the idea that we have a walk-over. We know prominent Republicans in the East are looking with interest to Kentucky's vote with the expectation of having it counted for Mr. Taft and that desperate efforts will be made to verify their expectations.

It is scarcely eight weeks till the election, scarcely ten days till the registration in all cities in which registration is required under the law. Plans have been made by the leaders and chairman of the Democratic committee to begin active work and form effective organization in every county and every precinct. We urge the Democrats throughout the State to lend their aid immediately and take part in carrying the State overwhelmingly for the Democratic ticket.—Lexington Herald.

Would Mortgage the Farm.

A farmer on rural route 2, Empire, Ga., W. A. Floyd by name, says: "Bucklen's Arnica Salve cured the two worst sores I ever saw: one on my hand and one on my leg. It is worth more than its weight in gold. I would not be without it if I had to mortgage the farm to get it." Only 25c at all dealers.

VANITY OF THE GREAT.

A Woman's Indictment of Masculine Celebrities.

"Vanity," said the husband as his wife tried on her new outfit before the cheval glass, "vanity, the curse of little minds."

But the lady, who was literary, ran for her notebook.

"Vanity is the sign of a little mind, is it?" she cried. "Well, listen to this. This is from Gibbon's diary."

And she read:

"'I am the greatest historian that ever lived. No one can equal me in this direction.'

"Or this," she went on, "from a letter that John Ruskin wrote to Alexander Mitchell:

"'What in the devil's name have you to do with either Mr. Gladstone or Mr. Disraeli? You are students at the university and have no more business with politics than you have with rat catching. Had you ever read ten words of mine (with understanding) you would have known that I care no more for Mr. Disraeli or Mr. Gladstone than for two old bagpipes with the drones going by steam, but that, with Carlyle, I stand, we two alone in England, for God and the queen.'

"Or this, from Victor Hugo's famous letter to Bismarck:

"'The giant greets the giant, the foe the foe, the friend the friend. I hate thee furiously, because thou hast humbled France. I love thee because I am greater than thou art. Thou wert silent when the bell in the tower of my fame struck my eightieth year. I speak when the stolen clock on my writing table unwillingly announces to thee that thou hast entered the seventies. I am eighty. Nay, I am eight and thou art seven, and mankind is the cipher behind each of us. Were we allied as one man history would cease. Thou art the body, I am the soul; thou art the cloud, I am the lightning; thou art the might, I am the fame. Who is greater, victor or vanquished? Neither. The poet is greater than either, for he celebrates both.'"

Closing her notebook, the lady returned to the mirror.

"Don't talk to me about vanity after that," she said.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Considerable Difference.

The young man had gone to Greenby for the summer for the purpose of securing piano pupils. When at last he gave a "recital" in the town hall he sent tickets to the Greenby Clarion, the editor of which promised him a good notice.

At the close of the recital the editor sought the musician and said cordially:

"Such an exhibition as you've given is enough to whet the ambition of all our young folks, and I shall say so in my notice."

The musician thanked him; but, owing to a slight mistake on the part of the typesetter, he found it hard to be as grateful the next day when he read:

"Such an exhibition as this young man who has come among us gave this afternoon was enough to wet the ambition of every boy and girl in town."—Youth's Companion.

Easy Enough.

A noted mathematician, considered by many a wonder, stopped at a hotel in a small town in Missouri. As usual in such places there were a number of drummers on hand. There was also a meeting of some medical men at the place, who used the hotel as headquarters. One of the doctors thought it would be quite a joke to tell the mathematician that some of the M. D.'s had concluded to kidnap him and take out his brains to learn how it was he was so good in mathematics. He was then asked by them what he was going to do about it. He replied, "Why, I shall simply go on without brains, just as you doctors are doing."

The Three R's.

Sir William Curtis, Bart., who was lord mayor of London in 1795, is generally credited with the authorship of the popular expression, "The three R's—readin', ritin' and rithmetic." It was upon the occasion of a city dinner at the time when Dr. Bell and the Quaker Lancaster were pleading in behalf of increased educational facilities for the poor that Sir William Curtis rose and in a jesting manner offered the toast, "The three R's." The phrase caught the public fancy at once.

KEEPING CIGARS FRESH.

Devices to Prevent Their Moisture From Evaporating.

"Yes, sir, cigars require care to keep them fresh," said a wholesale cigar dealer the other day. "If goods are kept in warehouses where there is heat they are bound to dry out more or less, although they may be sealed virtually air tight in the individual boxes. Steam heat is the hardest on cigars. If left exposed at all they dry out very quickly and lose much of their flavor. In the big warehouses, where large quantities of cigars are stored, the jobbers have humidors installed. They are simply water containers of one style or another arranged so that the water is open to the air for evaporation. The presence of the water prevents the air from getting too dry for the cigars. Even in the big showcases in the jobbers' salesrooms the same precaution is taken to prevent the stock from drying out. Moisteners made by placing water soaked pads in tin lined wooden boxes are placed in the compartments with the boxes of cigars. The careful retailer is just as particular with his cigars and keeps a soaked sponge or some sort of moistener in his showcases with his goods.

"A brick thoroughly water soaked is good to put in a showcase with cigars. The brick is so porous that it will soak up nearly its own bulk in water. When a soaked brick is placed in a showcase the water within it evaporates slowly, just enough to keep the cigars soft.

"If cigars are packed in good, tight boxes they will retain their flavor, and the flavor of good cigars comes from the tobacco alone. It is a mistake to think that anything else is used to enhance or qualify the flavor of first class tobaccos. It's only the poor cigars that are 'doctored.'

"How? Well, with drugs or chemicals. The poor qualities of tobacco used in making cheap cigars haven't much flavor, so very often the manufacturers provide an artificial flavor with various drugs. They treat them so they give forth the odor of good tobacco too. If you're a smoker you've probably picked up an inexpensive cigar that smelled as if it were made from the best of tobacco. When you smoked it you found it contained short 'filler' and sadly lacked the smoking qualities of a cigar made from good tobacco. That was a doctored cigar. Often cheap cigars look as if they had a glaze on the wrapper, and when placed in the mouth the smoker detects a sweetish flavor. These are evidences of drugs. As far as I ever heard the drugs used are all perfectly harmless.

"Nearly all cheap cigars are made of short filler—that is, the inside of the cigars is composed of broken bits of tobacco leaves. Only the wrapper and binder are of large, perfect leaves. In the cheap grades of Spanish and Cuban made cigars there is no binder. The small bits are simply inclosed in a single outside wrapper."—Kansas City Star.

The Only Shade.

It was a broiling hot day in the park, and those walking therein were well nigh exhausted when a very stout old lady came bustling along one of the paths, closely followed by a rough looking tramp. Twice she commanded him to leave her, but still he followed just behind. At last the old lady, quite disgusted, turned angrily around and said, "Look here, my man, if you don't go away I shall call a policeman."

The poor fellow looked up at her with a tear in his eye and then remarked, "For goodness' sake, mum, have mercy and don't call a policeman, for ye're the on'y shady spot in the park."

Already Employed.

A farmer had a houseful of visitors and one morning was busily engaged in killing chickens for dinner. Just as he was about to decapitate an old black hen the house was discovered to be on fire, and a scene of confusion ensued. The farmer rushed hither and thither, holding the hen under his arm and doing nothing whatever toward putting out the flames. At length his wife caught sight of him as he was prancing about and indignantly asked why he was not fighting the flames.

"Why, Maria," he exclaimed, "how can I do anything? Ain't I holdin' the old black hen?"

Newspaper Writing.

The Monessen (Pa.) News says: "There is a general complaint among older heads in the work that present newspaper writing lacks style, and this, in fact, can not be denied. But what is the cause? Simply that our colleges, universities and high schools are turning out thousands of graduates who are crammed with knowledge without being able to express it worthily."

The News might have added there are thousands who will never be able to write well and some of them break into journalism. Gift of expression and practice are necessary to good writing. Having the first, the newspaper office, as the News implies in its editorial, is the best training school. No young man who follows the blue pencil from day to day as his stuff is corrected or cut down to meet the requirements of space can fail to improve his style. But first and most important is the gift of expression. Without this a young man should not enter journalism with the expectation of achieving distinction. College training can not impart the gift.

Assassinated in Jackson.

A special from Jackson to the Lexington Gazette, dated Sept. 26, says: "Drew Bush, a miner, was assasinated at the residence of Abraham Lunts, where he boarded, about 8 o'clock last night.

"While sitting in his room playing a banjo in the presence of Lunts and other members of his family an unknown person fired through an aperture in the door, the ball piercing the heart of Bush, killing him instantly.

Lunts immediately ran out at the back door of his residence, where he saw four men retreating, one of whom he said he recognized as Ewen Bowling who was tried and acquitted two weeks ago on the charge of killing a brother of Drew Bush.

"Another man is also suspected. The suspect was caught and searched last night and a pistol was found on him containing one empty chamber of the same calibre ball as the one which killed him."

Where Bullets Flew.

David Parker, of Fayette, N. Y., a veteran of the civil war, who lost a foot at Gettysburg, says: "The good Electric Bitters have done is worth more than five hundred dollars to me. I spent much money doctoring for a bad case of stomach trouble, to little purpose. I then tried Electric Bitters, and they cured me. I now take them as a tonic, and they keep me strong and well." 50c at all dealers.

A Weather Prophet.

The editor of a country paper received the following query: "Can you tell me what the weather will be next month?" In reply he wrote: "It is my belief that the weather next month will be very much like your subscription." The inquirer wondered for an hour what the editor was driving at, when he happened to think of the word "unsettled." He went in the next day and settled his account.

ONEY. We are authorized to annouce H. E. Oney, of Hazel Green, as a candidate for County Superintendent of Schools, subject to the action of the Democratic primary.

GROVER CLEVELAND ALLEN is this week announced in our paper as a candidate for Circuit Court Clerk, and submits his claims to the Democratic primary. He was a student of the Hazel Green Academy and graduated from the law department of the Louisville University, at Louisville, in May, 1907. He has taught public schools in Wolfe county for five years, rendering satisfaction in all cases, and is now teaching in Kentucky Wesleyan Academy, at Campton. He was admitted to the bar in June, 1906, since which he has been a practicing attorney at the Campton bar, and among other cases he won for his clients were three felony causes. Indeed, all cases entrusted to him have been handled with painstaking attention. If elected to the office to which he aspires, he hopes to qualify himself in his profession, but at the same time fulfill every duty incumbent upon him. He is a young man of good moral character and high integrity, has had some experience in the office, and being a fine scribe is qualified to fulfill every duty. He is, indeed, one young man of whom it may be said he has no bad traits. He don't drink, smoke nor swear, and if honored with the nomination and election, will acquit himself with honor. Like the distinguished man for whom he was named, the lamented Grover Cleveland, he is poor but ambitious to be a man among men, and if he be elected he will ever be grateful to the Democratic party, to whom he appeals. And THE HERALD takes pleasure in vouching for him as a young man of exceptionally good character. Without detriment to any Democrat, we ask a fair consideration of his claim.

"JUDGE ADAMS is a nice gentleman and no mistake," said a Republican to the editor of this paper a few days since, "but," he went on to say, "everybody who knows the situation is bound to recognize the fact that Banford White is best qualified for Circuit Judge, and while I shall vote for Adams I believe White will be elected, and I base my belief on the fact that that thinking people want the best qualified man. Do not quote my name in connection, because, as I stated in the start, Mr. Adams is a gentleman in every sense and I like him. Lack of experience is the only thing in his way." The gentleman using the above language is, we believe, one Republican who never scratches his ticket, but at the same time he is not so partisan but he will acknowledge facts. And, if the indications are judged aright he is about correct as to the outcome. It is a fact undeniable that White is the better qualified.

A COMMERCIAL tourist who travels over nearly all the territory embraced in the Tenth congressional district a few days since told the editor of this payer that "Davis will sweep the Big Sandy country like a new broom in the hands of a cleanly housekeeper." He farther said: "I have a good trade all over the Big Sandy country, and I know the people pretty well. Some of them have heretofore voted for Langley, but this time they will vote for Dayis, and they are confident he is the coming congressman. "But," said he, "they all admit that Langley has made an excellent congressman and done more than possibly any man can do."

Dear friend: The Government will furnish the grave of each soldier that fought in her defence with a nice white marble headstone, 39 inches high, 12 inches wide and 4 inchse thick. Ours is a great country, a great Government, a great people. In the hour of the nation's peril her loyal sons quit their avocations, left their homes and loved ones to follow the starry flag and fight for the Union. Many, of course, did not return; many returned with bodies shot by bullets and scarred by sabers; many with disease brought on by exposure to the weather and by starvation. Octhers fought in Mexico, in Cuba and in the Philippines. Many are sleeping in unmarked graves. A loving people, through their own Government, desire to place a suitable headstone at the grave of each soldier, with inscription showing name and service to their country. If you have any deceased soldier friends you may see either Messrs. W. L. Childers, W. N. Nickell, B. B. Cole, Walker Taulbee, S. C. Rose, James Neff, J. W. Taulbee, or B. T. Gosney. They have blanks for the purpose. They Government pays the freight on these headstones to the nearest shipping poinr. I am glad of this opportunity to help add a token of respect to those who offered their lives to their country.

Very truly, JNO. W. LANGLEY.

As an illustration of the broad minded liberal views that Congressman Langley entertains on the pension question, the following is quoted from his speech in the House of Representative in discussing the question of title to pension of Union soldiers who had prior service in the Confedate Army:

"Those facts, Mr. Chairman, emphasize the injustice of the principle upon which section 4716 of the Revised Statues was based, and I for one am in favor of purging our pension laws entirely of any provision which create a bar to pension on that account. Speaking for my own stata, I assert that there are now no more loyal, lawabiding citizens in it than the great mass of those who were on the side of the Confederacy. We in Kentucky have outlived the prejudice and passions of the war. We are a reunited people, all proud of our great state and working toward a common destiny, and I feel that I am speaking the unanimous sentiment of my people when I state that this blot upon our splendid system of pension laws should be wiped out. (Applause.) I have introduced a bill in this House for that purpose, and I hope to see it enacted into law.

Mr. Bryan's Reception.

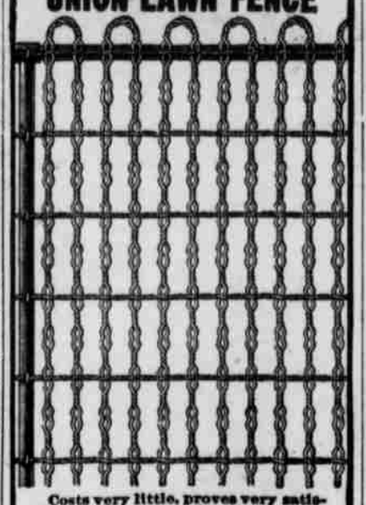

Mr. Bryan's trip through Ohio yesterday was a continous ovation. His entrance into Cincinnati last night was a veritable triumph. Not even in the exciting days of 1896 was the Nebraskan accorded such overwhelming evidence of popular interest in himself and his utterances.

That there should have been manifested such tremendous enthusiasm for him in the home town of Mr. Taft has excited greatest wonder. There can be only this explanation. Either Mr. Bryan still exerts that magnetism of presence and voice which alone charm the multitude, or else he has grown so greatly in the esteem of the public by his more recent utterances that the thousands would attest their devotion and loyalty to the cause he represents by their presence and plaudits. The story can be told only in November. Whatever be the cause or reason for Mr. Bryan's magnificent reception here and elsewhere, it is apparent that the enormous crowds that go to greet him are causing no little concern and uneasiness in the camp of the enemy.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Uncle Johns Adams, of Maytown, one of the best known divines in Eastern Kentucky, and one of the most popular ministers of the Methodist church in the mountains, was dangerously ill all of last week. His son, John A. A. Adams, of the U. S. mail service, located at Lexington, was telephoned for Saturday, at which time the old gentleman was not expected to survive Sunday. He is 85 years of age, and although he has been a regular minister for years, seldom failing to fill his appointments, his frail health was noticed by all. No minister in the mountains ever had more friends than Uncle Johns, regardless of denominational preferance.

TOLEDO BLADE,
TOLEDO, OHIO.

The Best Known Newspaper in the United States.

CIRCULATION, - 200,000.

Popular in Every State.

In many respects the TOLEDO BLADE is the most remarkable weekly newspaper published in the United States. It is the only newspaper especially edited for national circulation. It has had the largest circulation for more years than any newspaper printed in America. Furthermore, it is the cheapest newspaper in the world, as will be explained to any person who will write us for terms. The News of the World so arranged that busy people can more easily comprehend, than by reading cumbersome columns of dailies. All topics made plain in each issue by special editorial matter written from inception down to date. The only paper published especially for people who do or do not read daily newspapers, and yet thirst for plain facts. That this kind of a newspaper is popular, is proven by the fact that the Weekly Blade now has over 200,000 yearly subscribers, and is circulated in all parts of the United States. In addition to the news, the Blade publishes short and serial stories, and many departments of matter suited to every member of the family. Only one dollar a year.

When You Take Cold

One way is to pay no attention to it; at least not until it develops into pneumonia, or bronchitis, or pleurisy. Another way is to ask your doctor about Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. If he says, "The best thing for colds," then take it. Do as he says, anyway.

Miss Nannie E. Fields, our estimable county superintendent, entertained a few friends Friday evening in honor of her guest, Mrs. Cora Wilson Stewart, of Morehead. There was nothing of a light or trivial order, but the evening was spent in most delightful conversation. Prof. A. S. Mackenzie, of State University, made it very interesting for all by discussing some significant points in physiognomy. Cups of rich, red grape juice, nestling among an artistic arrangement of nasturtiums, with fancy cakes were served by the hostess, who was assisted by Miss Leona Belle Carter. All declared it one of the most delightful occasions of their lives. There were present: Prof. A. S. Mackenzie, of the State University of Kentucky, Lexington; Miss Lizzie Colville, Carlisle; Miss Lawrence, Lexington; Prof and Mrs. S. S. The latter will go to Washington to settle up her late husband's affairs, to which place she will be accompanied by Hon. W. O. Mize, uncle of decedent, after which she will return to Danville and abide with Mrs. Aiken. Mrs. D. S. Mrs. W. H. D. Totten, of Cincinnati, and her sister, Miss McElroy, of Pittsburg, Pa., accompanied by Frank Ford, of Lexington, paid THE HERALD office a pleasant visit Tuesday morning, after which they repaired to our persimmon grove and feasted for a short season on that luscious fruit, so rare to the taste of city bred people. Miss McElroy was especially delighted with the scenery of our hills and the hospitality of our people, and expressed the hope that Swango water would cure her sister of her ailment. They are all guests of Swango House and this is the first time the ladies were ever in Kentucky, but Mr. Ford comes here every fall to recuperate and says the water here does him more good than any he ever used.

Dr. Center, his attending physician, on Monday told "Our Man About Town" that Sam Pence, who was shot by Miles Hollon, on Holly, Sunday week, was doing as nicely as could be expected, but at one time last week pus set up in the wound and the case looked dangerous. He also said that Mrs. Linden and family, who were quite ill for a while, are now out of danger.

Hoffman demanded his son's release, which was refused, when he immediately proceeded to secure a shotgun and fired on them, killing both men with the same shot Hoffman has not been arrested.

Tom Cockrell Killed.

Louisville, Sept. 27.—The body of a man who was run over by a train and instantly killed in the Kentucky and Indiana railroad yards last midnight was identified early this morning as that of Thomas Cockrell, noted Breathitt county feudist. His presence in the yards has not been explained, but it is presumed that he was either on his way to or returning from a visit to his old home. He was a brother of James Cockrell, who was at one time marshal of Jackson, and who was assassinated.

Miss Malinda Stidham, of Robbins, in Breathitt county, is now living with the editor and his better seven-eighths. She is a native of Wolfe county, and neice of Harve Stidham, a well known trader in the Cox Mill neighborhood.

THINKING OF MOVING WEST?

If not, then make up your mind and write me for descriptive list of farms in Missouri, Kansas and Oklahoma. All fine, level, productive land that will grow anything under the sun, at prices ranging from $15 to $40 an acre, and come where life is made tolerable by easy, paofitrble farming. Why sweat and fret life away in the vain effort to eke out a mere miserable sustenance from the rock-ribbed, root-laced hillsides as your father and father's father did, when there is so much good land to be had yet awhile for a mere song? Get out of the ruts—break away from the time-worn habit that keeps your nose to the grindstone. All it takes is resolution and a little nerve. Write me, and let me help you to a better condition.

Do you want to get rid of it? If so, take Dr. Miles Nervine modified as directed in pamphlet around bottle. In addition to the direct curative properties it has a soothing effect upon the nervous system by which the rheumatic pains are controlled, and rest and sleep assured. It has made many cures of this painful disease, some of them after years of suffering. If it will cure others why not you. If your case is complicated, write us for advice, it costs you nothing and may save you prolonged suffering.

"I was so crippled that I could scarcely walk. After having my shoes on for an hour or two I could manage to walk by suffering the pain. Then I began to have pains all through my system. My doctor told me I had an acute attack of inflammatory rheumatism. I read about Dr. Miles' Nervine, bought a bottle and I commenced to get better from the start and for the past six months have scarcely any pain, and am able to walk as well as ever."

KENTUCKY KERNELS

Carefully Collated and Concisely Chronicled.

Another killing took place on the Knott-Letcher border, and William Mullins, Jr., was arrested, charged with shooting Robert Newsome during a church meeting.

While working in a tunnel on the Maysville branch of the L. & N. railroad, four men were badly injured, one of them seriously, by a large block of rock falling on them.

While passing White Oak school house, in Bath county, Ernest Riddle began taunting the children. He was hit with a rock thrown by one of the boys and is in a critical condition.

Worth Goodpaster, aged 55 years, a farmer of the Kendall Springs neighborhood, in Bath county, attempted suicide recently by jumping into a well. Upon striking the water he changed his mind and saved himself by climbing out.

Mrs. Clara Foster, who was convicted of the murder of her husband, James Foster, in the Whitley Circuit court, will have to serve the life sentence which the jury gave her, the Court of Appeals having sustained the verdict of the lower court.

To kill himself George Fleck, aged 76 years, a Jefferson county farmer, put the muzzle of a double-barreled shotgun into his mouth and pushed the trigger with a stick. Half of his head was blown away by the explosion. He had become deranged from illness.

Automobiles in Bath county are the cause of many runaways and accidents with teams. Only last week a team driven by Charles Meyers became frightened at an auto. Meyers was thrown from the wagon and narrowly escaped being trampled to death.

Lish and John Rader, Charley Wilson and John French escaped from the Hyden jail last week. The new jail was completed a few months ago and was considered one of the best in the mountains. The men escaped by sawing one of the steel bars in two.

The six-year-old son of M. F. Garrison, a merchant of Lake, Laurel county, got hold of his father's bottle of whisky and drank about four ounces of the stuff. The little fellow was thrown into convulsions and it was with difficulty that the little fellow's life was saved.

James Followells and son, Clint, on one side, and C. E. Mullins and his brother, H. T. Mullins, on the other, had a pitched battle near Bradfordsville, in Marion county, in which James Followells was killed. The difficulty arose over the ownership of some shingles.

The big saw and planing mill conducted by J. R. Williamson & Sons, at Lexington, was forced to close down last week because of the lack of water. The mill for twenty years has been using water from the famous old Patterson spring, which has never before failed.

When Bob Hocker, in jail at Lexington under sentence to hang for the killing of Drummond N. Veal, was told the Court of Appeals had overruled the petition for a rehearing of the case, he simply said, "Well I'm glad it's over. I will not call on my attorney to make fight. I don't believe it is worth while."

Montgomery county seems to be a sort of rendezvous for "hold-up" men and thieves generally. Within the past three weeks there have been a number of highway robberies, and last week's Mt. Sterling Gazette gives an account where thieves had been to the home of T. L. Flanders, in the Bunker Hill neighborhood, and stolen a chest of carpenter tools, and followed this up by carrying off at least 100 of Mrs. Flanders' choice chickens.

One of the greatest games in the history of amateur baseball was played at Lexington recently when the White Sox defeated the Lexington team. Helmsley, who was on the firing line for the Sox, pitched a no-hit, no-run game, and let only two men get to first base. These men got there on free tickets. The game broke all records for brevity as it required but fifty-six minutes to go the nine innings. Helmsley is a Baltimore boy and made a phenomenal record.

Indictments having been returned by the Lawrence county grand jury against Sprouse and Kelly, for first degree murder, in the burning of the Cooper home and three persons, the men were taken back to Louisa, from Catlettsburg and Mt. Sterling jails, respectively, for trial. A change of venue was granted and the case will be tried at a special term of court in Carter county, beginning October 19. An order was issued by the court that the prisoners be kept entirely apart during their confinement.

From the report of Rev. H. W. Elliott, secretary-treasurer, rendered at the recent convention of the Kentucky Christian Missionary Association, we extract the following figures, which go to show what good work the organization is doing in our state. During the last year the Christian churches of Kentucky have raised for missionary purposes $91,734 54. Of this amount $42,439.90 was for state missionary work and $18,895.85 for foreign missions. To American missions outside of Kentucky $10,588.42 was contributed, and for woman's work the sum was $16,407.02.
